

Memories that Prophecy!!

3/16/08

It is fall of '05 and I'm in the GGM office with Vikki leading me thru some memory healing. Healing childhood memories...harm-full memories. We're at the root memory, original event and I see, from my childhood position, Jesus standing in the corner of the room and He's talking to 'grown up' me! He's got His arm over my shoulder, pointing and talking...He has looks of peace, maybe even anticipation on His face as He talks to me. I can't hear what He's saying and Big Lori is a bit stunned that He's talking in the midst of this event. Little Lori is still in the event wondering why no one is coming to rescue her.

Acknowledging that Jesus was there, is here now and was there on my behalf was enough for now. I received a lot of healing that very day and was set free from tremendous influence of the enemy which allowed me to continue this path of pursuing Jesus.

It is Dec '05, Dale & I are at a healing seminar. I go to get prayed for at the end...ringing in my ears. I'm told by the prophet that this is a TRUST issue between me and God and that He wants me to walk this out. The enemy is trying to keep me from hearing Him. I'm suddenly back to this event, very hurt and frustrated that I can't hear what Jesus is telling me. As we pray some more, I see Jesus come and pick me (little girl) up into His arms and the three of us walk out of the room (He, big me, little me). I was assured that Jesus wants me to hear what He has to say...my deal is to get to know and trust Him ...period. His message to me from this particular event in my history will come in His timing.

'06 & '07 are incredibly fruitful years in my walk with Jesus. He's shown Himself a trusted friend, brother, healer, Lord and King of all. The Holy Spirit flows freely in my life allowing me a dialogue w/ the King beyond imagination. The King brings me a Royal invitation to which I respond. The event was a total 'set-up' by the Trinity!! I'm to meet with the Father, one on one, alone!! Everything in me dissipates into mourning as I realize the time has come for the 'other shoe to fall'. The dream is over and the Father will say something like, "It's been a great couple of years, now you know what you could have had, had you done better in life and not been such a screw up". Jesus assures me that it won't be like that and I sooooo want to believe Him. But the deepest place of my heart is terribly unsure. Well, much to my surprise, shock and awe...Jesus was more than right! The reception I got from our Father was the greatest and most unexpected surprise of my life!! Yet, as great as it was, I found myself very gun-shy to embrace Him in a new season of getting to know Him. In time, exhausted by my own efforts, I finally did embrace, engage with a passion this journey to get to know the heart of our Father towards myself. WOW!!! What a journey it is!!

January '08, I'm praying for my oldest daughter who has moved back home with her beautiful 2yr old daughter. I see her very weary in her own walk, unsure of her future, so I began to pray more specifically for her. I'm pumping gas, dialoging with our King concerning my daughter. I see her in her room, downcast and crying. I ask the Lord to show me what He's doing and/or speaking into her life so that I can join Him in His work for her. He's standing by her bed, scoops her and her daughter up into His arms and, lo and behold, I see Jesus with His arm over Mal's shoulder, pointing at her purple wall and talking. Suddenly the wall disappears, the sky opens and scenes from Mal's future appear. She's at peace, assured, living life with her daughter in their own place, working, at school, well taken care of. As I watch these scenes I'm filled with hope, wonder and trust in our Great God and Hear His voice say, "For I know the plans that I have for you, Mallori, Plans of peace and not of evil, to give you a future an a hope. Then you will call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. You will seek me and find Me when you search for Me with all your heart. I will be found by you”, says the Lord, “and I will bring you back from your captivity”. I’m overwhelmed with His love and care for my daughter, I’m thankful, beginning to praise Him for this and for showing me. I agree with Him as I pray. Immediately I’m back to my own childhood event and now I see...Jesus is still there with His arm over my shoulder, holding little me in His arms, pointing and speaking. Suddenly the wall in that room disappears and I see my future and hear the very same words He spoke over my daughter!!! He is my plan, my future, my hope and He is allowing me to find Him, He does listen, He does bring me out of captivity!!!!!! I HEAR THE MESSAGE OF THE KING!

I’m overwhelmed and overcome in the presence of the Holy Trinity of God!!! The love is too great for me to bear, receive, take in...I feel as if I’m ‘finished’ in the presence of the Ancient of Days. A full circle, a Super Natural invading of my life by the God of the universe, who loves me soooo much that He gave it all just to have intimacy with me. This is the God we serve!!! I shall walk out my days speaking of His wondrous works both past and present, both mine and others, to bring down Heaven in order to establish His Kingdom. I lay down this stone of remembrance so that all the world can see the nature of our Father. He is Good. He is Wise. He is Right/ Righteous in all He does. He is Trustworthy. He is Worthy of ALL Praise!!! Glory to His name forever and ever!! Amen!!

In Service to Our King,
